LIVESTOCK SHOW POSTPONE TRIP TO LAVA BEDS

PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW BILLED DECEMBER 6TH TO 11TH, OF INTEREST TO KLAMATH STOCK MEN

The Pacific International Livestock exposition, billed for December 6th to 11th, is beginning to attract the attention of stock men in this valley. A premium list can be consulted at the Herald office.

E. L. Thomson, the prominent Portland banker, has this to say of the stock show:

"The work for the fall livestock exposition should have the most sincere and cordial support of every citizen throughout the Northwest."

"The progress already made in this territory in the way of improving the blood of dairy cows and fat stock has accomplished wonders. The annual dairy products of the Northwest have increased from a few thousand dollars to many millions of dollars, certainly one of the Northwest's greatest assets, as it stands in the front rank with fat stock, wool and sheep, while hogs especially have shown a remarkable increase in numbers, and as profit makers they are accomplishing much for their owners."

"A wider distribution of blooded stock and of standard breeds is the Northwest's most urgent need at present, and I expect this exposition will be of great benefit to the entire Pacific Northwest."

New Ordinance.

An ordinance which the city council believes will eventually eliminate drunk and disorderly conduct on the streets was put to test this morning, when five inmates of the city jail were given tools of various kinds and told to get busy by a guard. "Now, what d'ye think o' that?"

Grand Jury Excuses.

Ross Shipley and Percy Evans, who were summoned to appear before the grand jury in Medford, have been excused, and are home again.

POSTPONE TRIP TO LAVA BEDS

WILL WAIT FOR PLEASURE AND EDUCATIONAL EXCURSION TO HISTORIC PLACE UNTIL AFTER THE RAINS COME

The proposed trip to the Lava Beds of the school faculties and business men has been postponed until after a rain. According to those who have made the trip, the dust is so deep at present that the excursion would not be as pleasant as it will be later.

As soon as there is a rain, however, the dust will be laid, and form a covering over the sharp stones in the road bed, that play havoc with auto tires.

The excursion is expected to be a trip, not only enjoyable, but educational. Historic places will be pointed out, caves explored, and Saturday night—the excursion will undoubtedly take place the first Saturday after a rain—a huge fire will be built, and stories told, etc.

WINS THIRD PRIZE AT DENVER SHOW

AGAINST NATIONAL COMPETITION AND WITH ONLY A FEW PRODUCTS, KLAMATH TAKES THIRD IN GENERAL EXHIBITS

Klamath county took third prize at the Denver Dry-Land Show recently, according to the first reports that reached this section. As this was a national show, in which dry land sections from all parts of the United States competed, this is one of the biggest triumphs yet accorded to Klamath county.

Colorado sections won the first prizes.

The exhibit was sent off two weeks ago, as a general exhibit. Only a few products were on hand at the time, mostly dry land alfalfa, peas, Sudan grass, etc., and County Agriculturist Roland Glaisyer and Fred Fleet had little hopes of securing any kind of a trophy, considering the competition. But apparently even the few products showed their superiority, and the third prize was secured.

Commercial Club officials are resolved that all other land shows to which Klamath county is eligible will be furnished exhibits from here.

KLAMATH WOULD REPEAT TRIUMPH

FARMERS AND MANUFACTURERS ASKED TO BRING PRODUCTS FOR PORTLAND SHOW—FIRST PRIZE WON LAST YEAR

Klamath county wishes to repeat her triumph of last year at the Manufacturers and Land Products Show at Portland, October 25th to November 13th, according to Fred Fleet of the Commercial Club. Last year this section took first prize.

"To accomplish this, the farmers must bring in their products," said Fleet. "We want agricultural products of all kinds, for to take the sweepstakes again means much for this section. Manufacturers should make exhibits also."

"Everything should be in next week," concluded Fleet.

Enjoy Quail Hunt.

They say "It's the early bird, etc.," and now some of us in some instances are prone to believe this is true. On Tuesday morning, early, while some of the (good) citizens were still in silent slumber, Dave Lannox, E. Hardenbrook, E. L. Essel and Carl Plath stole forth through the early dawn in quest of breakfast. All carried guns with bird shot for ammunition. Several quail were aroused from their roosting places, and many joined the Free-From-Care route under heavy fire. The boys returned home the same day with birds, but hungry.

PHONE COMPANY PLANS PROJECT

INDIVIDUAL LINES INSTEAD OF PARTY LINES TO HOT SPRINGS AND OTHER SUBSCRIBERS TO BE RESULT OF IMPROVEMENTS

Many new projects of the telephone company will soon put nearly every phone in Klamath Falls on an individual line. These projects will be completed in sixty days.

The first project will put the phones of the Hot Springs addition, before on party lines, on individual lines. It will be accomplished by means of a cable.

A cable will be put up beginning on Eleventh and Pine, and following Eleventh out to supply Crescent and the vicinity of the new court house. Individual phones for the rooms of the court house can be connected with this cable. A branch cable will extend up Worden, past the Catholic church, and give telephone subscribers in that section individual lines.

Fourteen men will work for sixty days to accomplish the proposed improvements in the Klamath Falls telephone system. Under-ground and aerial cables will be laid, not only bringing better service, but improving the appearance of the city by removing many unsightly wires.

GERMANS CLAIM VICTORY; CROSS DANUBE RIVER

HAVE KEPT FORCE AT SERBIAN FRONTIER SECRET

Have Crossed Drina, Save and Danube Rivers in Several Places—Claim Overwhelming Victories Everywhere—Mackensen in Command. Bulgarian Invasion of Serbia May Have Already Begun.

United Press Service

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Dispatches that the Austro-Germans have crossed the Drina, Save and Danube rivers means that the long expected Teuton drive to Constantinople has begun. It is possible that the Bulgarians have already invaded Serbia.

United Press Service

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—It is announced that the Austro-German invasion of Serbia has begun. The official statement is as follows:

"German troops crossed the Danube at several points. First positions have been obtained on the eastern bank of the Drina and the southern banks of the Danube. Complete control of the rivers is held by the Teutons."

Overwhelming Teuton victories have occurred everywhere, according to dispatches. Military men predict an early ending of the war following Bulgaria's entrance on the side of the Teutons.

The Teuton invasion of Serbia indicates that much larger forces of the Austrians and Germans are concentrated on the Serbian frontier than has been intimated by recent dispatches. Apparently the Teutons have accomplished a monstrous coup. Mackensen is reported to be in command on the south bank of the Danube near Semendria, from which point the Germans are concentrating an artillery fire on the Serbians.

It is reported that Germans are concentrated on Serbia's western frontier.

United Press Service

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—Officials believe that a quick, overwhelming victory for the central empire and the speedy ending of the war will follow Bulgaria's entrance.
